

SCHIFF ASKED TO ACCEPT RETURN OF SULZER GIFT

Witness Recalled by the Prosecution Says He Refused to Take $2,500 — Reiterates Wednesday's Statement.

COURT DECIDES NOT TO LIMIT TESTIMONY

Charles Dersch Says He Delivered Collections to Sulzer Home and Thought Mrs. Sulzer Accepted the Money.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 26.—These ten developments Thursday marked the impeachment trial of Gov. Sulzer. Jacob H. Schiff, a New York banker, testified that he was recently asked by Samuel I. Frankenstein, a former law partner of Gov. Sulzer, if he would accept the return of the alleged $2,500 campaign contribution which the banker Thursday said he gave to the governor without restriction as to its use. Mr. Schiff said he had replied negatively.

The high court, by a unanimous vote, decided to admit all testimony pertaining to campaign contributions made to the governor even though they were not specified in the articles of impeachment.

This ruling paved the way for the introduction of evidence intended to show the governor had solicited and received large contributions from brewing interests.

The governor asked, according to the testimony, that these contributions be given in cash instead of checks.

Counsel for the impeachment managers said they were prepared to prove the governor received campaign contributions "ostensibly in excess" of the total mentioned in the articles of impeachment. There were more than 100 not accounted for, counsel asserted.

New Names Introduced.
The names of a large number of these contributors, other than those of the brewing interests, were brought into evidence. These included 52 persons mentioned as drawers of Sulzer checks in the account of Louis A. Sarecky, the governor's campaign secretary, in the Mutual Alliance Trust company. This account showed with checks and cash, that deposits of $14,400 had been made between Sept. 10, 1912, and the date of the governor's inauguration.

Decision on the question as to whether Sulzer's alleged misuse of checks given to the governor without restriction as to their use constituted larceny was reserved to give the court an opportunity to investigate the authorities.

Sarecky, regarded by the prosecution as one of the most important witnesses and whom they said they had been unable to locate, was discovered by process servers in Albany, and served with subpoena.

Judge Lewis J. Connelley of Albany, a life long friend of the governor, testified that he had raised money for the governor's campaign, but had given it without restriction to its use.

Sulzer called personally upon Chas. A. Stadler, president of the American Maltine company, Stadler said, and requested his aid in obtaining the support of Tammany hall. He said he obtained the support of latter solicited campaign funds for Sulzer.

No Additional Charges.
The assembly members decided on Thursday night to bring no more impeachment charges against the governor.

Mr. Stadler subsequently told of having collected about $1,400 from persons representing liquor interests. His personal contribution of $100 was added to the total turned over to the governor.

"I think the total amounted to about $1,400," he said. "I may be in error, it might be perhaps only $1,200; I don't think it over $1,400."

"Was there any occasion," asked Judge Connelley, "for which you spoke to you about the subject of cash instead of checks, or anything of a similar kind or nature?"

"Not to me, as I remember," was the reply.

Charles Dersch, one of my employees who accompanied me when I turned over the money I had collected, that he preferred cash to checks."

Mr. Stadler said he had later told "made a trip through the state," for Sulzer.

"Sulzer thanked me," he continued, "and said that everything else I could do for him, I should not leave undone."

Delivered Collections.
Charles Dersch, who followed Stadler on the stand, testified that he had delivered some of Stadler's collections at Sulzer's new home. He was asked whether he had delivered them to Mr. or Mrs. Sulzer.

"I don't remember, but I know they took the cash I brought in to the house," he answered. "I think that Mrs. Sulzer took it and put it in a desk."

Lengthy questioning was necessary before the witness could be persuaded to make a different statement concerning what he told, "either Mr. or Mrs. Sulzer the money was for."

"I said for campaign purposes," he finally said.

Dersch said Sulzer requested that if he got any more checks, "to be kind enough to have them cashed."

Simon Uhlman, head of the Henckel Brewing company of Albany, testified that he had made out a check for $300 to the order of Louis A. Sarecky.

"I told the governor that I would contribute to his campaign fund," said the witness.

Liquor Man Testifies.
Morris Tashkin, president of the New York Liquor Dealers' association and a member of the local committee of Tammany hall testified to having contributed $50.

Jacob H. Schiff, the New York banker, was recalled to the stand after counsel for the prosecution at the outset of the session had made a desperate fight to have the marrow of his Wednesday's testimony stricken from the record. That was—and he repeated it in substance Thursday that he had not intended his $2,500 gift for any particular purpose.

This was an admitted blow to the prosecution.

Edgar T. Brackett, counsel for the impeachment managers, argued that Mr. Schiff had asked for the money to help his campaign, it made no difference what the intent of Mr. Schiff in the matter had been. He held that the banker might have been giving expression to his feeling in regard to the gift at the present time rather than at the time the gift was made. Judge Cullen agreed that the point was well taken, but reserved decision on that motion, to strike the testimony in question from the record.

PHILANTHROPY IS BLAMED BY BIXBY FOR HIS ARREST

Claims He Gave Girls Various Amounts as He Was Interested in Their Cases and Wanted Them to Live Better

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 26.—George H. Bixby, the Long Beach millionaire on trial for alleged offenses against girls, took the witness stand in his own behalf Thursday and making a general denial of all accusations against him, asserted that his acquaintance with inmates of the Jonquil, a notorious resort, had been gained entirely through philanthropy.

Bixby said he first met Emma J. Goldman, proprietress of the Jonquil, now serving a year in the county jail in the autumn of 1907. She was introduced to him as Mrs. Josie Rosenberg.

He received from Randsberg, Calif., a request to aid an inmate of Mrs. Rosenberg's establishment," he explained.

"It was a girl named Martan, who was ill. I became interested in her and gave her $100 so that she might go home to her mother. Later I gave Mrs. Rosenberg $800 more to give to the girl. Martan is now married and living a respectable life."

Used the Name King.
"Mrs. Rosenberg suggested that I might be talked about if I were known at her place by my true name, so I used the first one which came into my mind—King."

An attorney interrupted to ask if Bixby had not previously given another $100. The witness said he had, as he had been sorry for her.

Bixby said that Mrs. Rosenberg moved to a new neighborhood and for four years he knew nothing concerning her.

"One day," he continued, "she telephoned to me that there was in her place a girl who was the mother of a child, and needed help. I called at the house and found the girl who testified against me here under the name of Nieblas."

"Mrs. Rosenberg said the girl wanted to buy a rooming house, so I gave her $500. Later I gave her $1,800 more. Then I went on a vacation and when I returned Mrs. Rosenberg told me that the girl had invested the money foolishly in a poor place. I then gave $2,000 more with which to buy another rooming house. I gave her $4,300 in all."

Met Helen Barker.
"I met Helen Barker at the Jonquil last January when I called there to learn how the Nieblas girl was progressing. She told me her mother lived in Rapid City, S. D., and that she wanted to see her. I gave her fifty dollars. Mrs. Rosenberg told me the Barker girl wanted to marry a young man who was working in a shooting gallery. I gave her $300 more the same day. Two weeks later I saw the girl again. She said she had 'oster parents living at Claremont, Calif., and wanted to provide for them. I gave her $300 more."

"I never saw the girl again until she testified against me in the court room."

Bixby swore that of the other girls who testified against him he knew only one—Grace Redwine. He denied in detail all accusations of immorality. When he was examined, the prosecution began an attempt to impeach his testimony. Arguments over the admissibility of the evidence of one of the accusing girls were not concluded when court adjourned.

Stavins Morgan, the architect again, pressed an unwilling witness today replying to nearly all the questions that to answer them would degrade him. He admitted, however, having received a total of $2,500 to girls in the Jonquil.

HOUSE CLEARED OF SPECTATORS BY LEGISLATORS

People Refuse to Leave Capitol at Nashville, Tenn., Until Assured That Detectives and Police Would Leave.

POLICE WERE SENT TO PRESERVE ORDER

Resolution to Have Deputy Game Warden Appear For Contempt to Drawing Revolver Loses.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 26.—After another exciting day in the Tennessee house of representatives, leaders of the political factions, which have banded charges that "gunmen" were being used to intimidate legislators reached an agreement late Thursday afternoon to clear the capitol of all spectators. The state senate was not in session and members of that body, city detectives, policemen and state officials not present on business were included in the "request" to leave the capitol and the state house grounds.

This action was taken as a precaution against a threatened open clash between the factions that are fighting over the so-called liquor enforcement bill.

The agreement to disperse the "gunmen" was reached soon after the afternoon session was called to order when it was stated that a detail of policemen and city detectives in plain clothes had been stationed in the corridors. Speaker Stanton deplored the presence of the policemen and requested that they be removed.

Room is Cleared.
Three members of the house, Representatives McFarland, regular democrat; Patrick Smith, republican, and Lex Stone, independent democrat, were named a committee to clear the state house, in accordance with the agreement. McFarland assembled the spectators in the corridors and addressed them, stating that the action decided upon was necessary for the preservation of the peace.

Several of the spectators declined to leave unless assured that city detectives and other alleged armed men obeyed the request. All the partisans of the opposing aggressive factions finally left the building and the house was again called to order.

The regulars Thursday successfully continued their filibusters against the liquor enforcement bills. These bills, three in number, are designed to strengthen the state wide prohibition laws. They prohibit the shipment of liquor into the state, prohibit its shipment within the borders of the state, and provide for action in criminal or civil courts to declare saloons public nuisances upon petition of ten taxpayers. All three of the measures passed the senate by a close vote.

Resolution Voted Down.
At the morning session, Rep. Bejach introduced a resolution citing John Yeatman, deputy game warden, to appear before the house for contempt, it being alleged that he had drawn a revolver Wednesday when the house adjourned in an uproar. Late in the afternoon the resolution was voted down.

Rep. McDeade then presented a petition signed by 52 members, urging Speaker Stanton to allow the law enforcement bills to come to a vote. The petition was spread upon the journal. At 5:30 o'clock the house adjourned until 8 p. m. when local bills were taken up.

SON OF REP. RHODES FOUND DEAD IN ROOM
Father was Recently Convicted of Bribery in Connection With An Election.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Sept. 26.—Joseph Rhodes, 19, son of State Rep. U. G. Rhodes, was found dead Thursday morning in his room at home. He had apparently shot himself through the head some time during the night. None of the family can give any reason for the suicide. The boy's father was recently sentenced to the penitentiary, having been convicted of bribery in connection with the election of a United States senator last winter.

Gov. Hatfield had been asked permission for the father to return home to attend the funeral of his son.

PLENTY OF MATERIAL FOR COMING AUCTION
Government Will Sell Almost Everything From Aviator Caps to Fish Hooks.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—From worsted aviation caps to fish hooks, is the range of articles which the dead letter office is about to auction off, as the result of a year's accumulation of misdirected mail. The published list reads like a department store catalog.

Golf balls, crab nets and cartridge belts, calash pipes and graphophone, cigars and cigarettes, pocket flasks and shaving sets, an ear trumpet, hot water bottles and ice bags, all of these various implements, along with all sorts of articles of wearing apparel, will go under the quick hammer of the auctioneer which starts next Wednesday.

Girl of 20 Smoked 100 Cigarets Soaked in Opium

PARIS, Sept. 26.—The police Friday forbade the burial of the body of 20-year-old Pierrette Fleury, actress and cabaret singer, who died from an overdose of ether in her apartments.

scandal is threatened as servants in the singer's employ have told the police of wild orgies which took place in the apartments. Names famous throughout Europe and America were mentioned by the police.

Despite her extreme youth, Pierrette had run the gamut of human vices. She was an inveterate user of ether and smoked from 0 to 100 Turkish cigarettes a day, soaked in opium. So

A LIE SAYS TAFT; HE LOST ONLY 60 POUNDS

Former President Anxious to Secure a Marble Postoffice For New Haven, Conn.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—William Howard Taft, former president of the United States, Thursday, in the capacity of a private citizen, urged Secy. McAdoo to give New Haven, Conn., the former president's adopted home, a marble postoffice. Whether a former republican president has sufficient influence with a democratic administration to have the structure built of marble instead of granite "was to be decided."

When complimented upon the fact that he appeared in splendid health, the former president laughed and said:

"The report that I have lost 80 pounds is a malicious lie. It is only 60."

Regarding Rep. Horland's resolution to supplant Mr. Taft and other republicans on the Lincoln memorial commission with democrats, the former president remarked:

"I suppose I might stand the loss. It wasn't much when they took the presidency away, but I tell you if they do likewise with this job, it will hurt."

Later Taft called on Pres. Wilson.

NEW BOY DID NOT KNOW REAL EDISON

Inventor is Kept Out of Work Shop Until Secretary Can Be Summoned.

ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 26.—When Thomas A. Edison, who has just recovered from an illness, started to enter his laboratory here Thursday he was intercepted by a lad who had recently become attached to the laboratory office force.

"No strangers allowed in here," said the boy. "It is a rule that no except employes can enter the building unless they have an appointment with Mr. Edison and you can't see him because he's home sick."

And the inventor couldn't get in until Mr. Edison's secretary was summoned. The inventor took it all as a huge joke and complimented the boy.

GOVERNOR ADVISED TO HONOR REQUEST

Several of His Advisers, It is Claimed, Hold That It is Unnecessary for Executive to Go Below the Surface.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 26.—A division of opinion is said to exist among Gov. Felker's advisers as to whether he should honor the request of the state of New York for the extradition of Harry K. Thaw. Some of them take the attitude that the New York papers are in proper legal form and that it is unnecessary for the governor to go below their surface in an inquiry into the facts of the case, upon which they are based. Officials at the state house take an opposite view.

But Gov. Felker, who is himself a lawyer, is understood to attach importance to securing further information on the subject of the reported indictment of Thaw by the Dutchess county (N. Y.) grand jury for conspiracy in connection with his escape from the Matteawan Insane asylum.

No indictment has been made public, but William Travers Jerome said in arguing on New York's petition for extradition before Gov. Felker Tuesday that an indictment had been found, but kept secret at his request.

It is understood that the governor learns more definitely just what attitude has been taken by the Dutchess grand jury, he probably will defer his decision in regard to the signing of the extradition warrant.

It is believed here that the governor will grant the request made by Thaw's counsel Thursday that they be allowed until Oct. 6 to file additional briefs in the extradition matter.

For two hours today Thaw strolled about the downtown streets and suburbs with Police Officer C. D. Stevens, attracting only casual attention. There was no outward appearance of any restraint, and the outing seemed to be enjoyed even more than the automobile trips which Thaw has had.

WILL DROP SUIT IF DOCTOR WILL RETURN

Wife Who is Suing Mrs. Clarence Mackay is More Anxious For Love than Money.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 26.—Arthur C. Train, a prominent New York lawyer, arrived here Friday to hold a conference with Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, which it is believed, has a bearing upon the suit for $1,000,000 damages brought against Mrs. Mackay by Mrs. Joseph H. Blake, wife of a famous New York surgeon, in which alienation of Dr. Blake's affection is charged.

According to a report Mrs. Blake promised to drop the suit if Mrs. Mackay would persuade Dr. Blake to return to his wife.

Mrs. Blake is reported as saying: "Dr. Blake is the best man God ever made. I lived with him for 21 years and I should know. He is a man of highest ideals. Dr. Blake is a New Haven man and entered New York as a stranger. He soon reached the height of his profession. It is killing me, these things they say about the man I love. I only want him back."

GOSHEN FIGURES IN THE SEARCH FOR JOE ELLIS

Man Wanted at Indianapolis For Murder of Clothing Merchant May Have Passed Through This City Tuesday.

PROBATION OFFICER RECEIVES POSTCARD

Dated Indianapolis and Signed Joseph Ellis—Said That He Attended Fair at Louisville and Had a Good Time.

Northern Indiana and southern Michigan have been brought into the limelight in the search for Joseph Ellis, who is wanted at Indianapolis for the murder of Louis Schinsky at an Indianapolis hotel last Monday.

A clue from Goshen turned the Indianapolis police towards this section of the state and they think that Ellis, who is thought to be W. R. Anderson, may be in hiding in some city in this section.

According to the Goshen story, a young man, who fits the description sent out by the capital police, called at the general delivery window there on Tuesday and asked for mail for W. R. Anderson. He appeared to be nervous and seemed in a hurry to get away from the window.

After leaving the window he inquired of several persons the route to Three Rivers, Mich. He was not seen later and it is presumed that he went farther north.

South Bend may have had Ellis for a visitor Tuesday night of Wednesday morning, although the local police heard nothing of his being in this city. He was not in the police station, part of the state. Three Rivers is on the Michigan Central railroad and Ellis would have to pass through South Bend if he took the interurban to this city to catch the train here, or if he wanted to catch it at Niles.

CHRISTABEL TELLS WHAT TO BURN

Daughter of Militant Leader From Safe Quarter in France Directs Activities of Arson Squad of English Suffragets.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—To all intents and purposes the headquarters of British suffragette militancy have been moved here from London. They are in charge of Christabel Pankhurst, daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, founder of militantism, who has rented luxurious apartments in the Latin Quarter.

The war has spread with huge maps of London and other English cities and once a week Christabel sends back word where the torch shall be applied in the succeeding week. Twice a week agents from the Women's Social and Political Union in London visit Christabel's office for instructions. She is, in truth, the brains and directing force of the militant movement in England.

The bulk of money contributed to the suffragets has been banked in this city to prevent its seizure by the British government. Mrs. Pankhurst, who sails for America about Oct. 11, will send all the money she makes from her speeches to Paris.

Mrs. Pankhurst is here living with her daughter and completing her plans for her lecture in the United States and Canada. Her health is completely restored.

"I am much gratified over messages from the other side," she said. "And feel I will be received with open arms."
